Reveal Secrets Of Mystery Car

President Could Talk With Whole World by Use of Special Equipment.

WASHINGTON.—The world's most secret railway car—President Roosevelt ran a large part of his government through its equipment—has given up its mysteries, says the Associated Press.

It is No. 1401, a converted passenger and baggage coach filled with the most modern radio, telegraph, and telephone equipment, which went along whenever the late President Roosevelt made a train trip, and now goes with President Truman.

The coach was displayed at Washington's Union station by the White House signal detachment which after three years of experimentation calls it the most modern and complete mobile communications setup in the world.

Called No. 1401, the name by which the coach has been called by those who knew about it ever since it was borrowed from the B. & O. railroad, the President can, while the coach is in motion:

1. Telephone to any house or to any radio telephone equipped automobile or other vehicle in the United States.

2. Carry on a radio teletype conversation—virtually unbreakable code—around the world at a rate of 100 words a minute.

3. Send and receive messages to and from ships at sea.

4. Send and receive teletype code messages.

The newest of the numerous communications devices in the car is the radio teletype. An operator punches out a message on an ordinary teletype keyboard similar to that on a typewriter. The message progresses through a transmitter into a "scrambler" which puts it into a code difficult to break because of its lack of uniformity.

All this goes on while the coach is in motion. When the train goes through a tunnel which interferes with transmission the sending is automatically halted, and upon signal denoting the train has emerged from the tunnel, the operator resumes sending. The only visible thing to indicate the nature of No. 1401 is the antenna.

The radio teletype was used regularly for the first time on President Truman's recent trip to Missouri and Tennessee. The communications car went ahead of the President's plane and was waiting for his use at Caruthersville, Mo., and Redfoot Lake, Tenn.

Scientists Envision
Flyless Era in Future

NEW YORK.—Some day in the not-so-distant future the common housefly and the pestiferous mosquito may be as extinct as the dinosaur.

And when that day comes, malaria and typhus, which have taken a toll of a million to three million lives annually, will have vanished as scourges of mankind.

This forecast was made here by two Swiss scientists, Dr. Paul Lauger and Dr. Paul Muller, who gave DDT, the miracle insecticide, to the U. S. army and worldwide public health.

Dr. Lauger and Dr. Muller asserted that, with proper control, flies, mosquitoes and other harmful insects can be eliminated entirely from the United States. They said: "It would require several years. But care must be taken to insure the lives of good insects and birds and fish which live on insects. It is a job for entomologists, not laymen."

Stonewall

Stonewall, Dec. 17.—Hog killing time has been on hand for the last week or so. I guess everyone has killed by this time, the weather has been so cold.

Mrs. C. M. Stratton, who has been sick, is able to be out again. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Carson had dinner last Sunday. Mrs. Lee Wheeler, Mrs. Anna Lee and Mrs. Florence Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Tillon Lee and three children were dinner guests in the same home.

Miss Frances Jennings has been at home here on the sick list. She has gotten better and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Jennings took her back to school on last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carson went with them to see Lee Carter, who is also a student there.

Mrs. J. H. Beard was taken to the Virginia Baptist Hospital last week. Mr. Beard and son, Henry, visited her on Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Beard and son, Lawrence spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Chick.

Miss Alma Moore and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brown, of Gladstone, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Turner.

Mr. C. M. Stratton visited his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crawford, of Washington, over the weekend.

Miss Neta Beard, of Farmville, is keeping house for her father.
